YOUTHFUL DRIVER OF ASHTON CAR IN SERIOUS ACCIDENT

Crashed Into Two Machines in Funeral Cortege Near Malta.

(Telegraph Special Service) DeKalb, May 5.—Mrs. Howard Case, 1221 Cherry street, Milwaukee, Wis., was seriously injured, her husband received a severe shaking up and a cut on his hand, M. E. Case of DeKalb and Mr. and Mrs. Herman Lewick of Milwaukee were injured when the two machines in which they were riding were struck by an Overland auto, driven by Julius Levin, 14, of Ashton, on the Lincoln Highway, west of Malta Saturday. The injured people were en route to Clinton, Wis., with the remains of Mrs. M. E. Case at the time of the accident. The cortege was proceeding west, while Levin, accompanied by his parents, was coming east. According to F. E. Wirtz, who was in the hearse, the Levin machine was being driven at about 25 miles an hour and nearly crashed into the hearse. The DeKalb man said the two cars were too close for comfort.

After passing the hearse, it is believed by the authorities that the boy turned his head to look at the hearse and struck the machine driven by Herman Lewick, in which Mrs. Lewick and Mr. Case of this city were riding. The Lewick machine was struck and tipped over into the ditch, closely following the Lewick machine. The machine occupied by Mr. and Mrs. Howard Case, which was driving the machine, said he got off the pavement to avoid being struck by the Overland, but on account of a ditch could not get all four wheels off the cement. The Overland, evidently out of control of the driver, crashed into the second machine, tipping it into the ditch. Mrs. Case being pinned beneath it. It was necessary to cut the car back to extricate Mrs. Case.

Dr. F. G. Crowell of Rochelle, was called, and drove with all possible haste to the scene of the accident. Mrs. Case was taken to a nearby house and given first aid attention, later being brought to the city hospital here for further attention.

Dr. Crowell stated that Mrs. Case is severely hurt. Her injuries consist of internal bruises, compound fracture of the pelvis and other injuries.

She told the doctors and others immediately after the accident she was broken inside. Mrs. Lewick suffered a serious injury to one eye and was bruised and cut in other places about the body. Mr. Case, who was in the Lewick machine, was also shaken up and bruised, but fortunately not otherwise badly injured. Mr. Lewick was bruised to some extent, but considers himself fortunate in not being more seriously hurt as the machine tipped over into the ditch.

Pinned Under Auto
Howard Case, driver of the second machine to be struck by the Overland, said the Overland, after striking the first machine following the hearse, seemed to give a sudden swing, and come directly at him, and although he drove off the cement to avoid a crash was struck broadside. Both were pinned beneath it.

The Levin family, living at Ashton, were en route to Evanston to spend the week end with the Abe Levin family. Mr. Levin had allowed his son, Julius, to drive, and it is the belief of the police and others who were at the scene of the accident shortly after it happened, that the boy lost control of the machine and was unable to stop.

None of the occupants of the Levin car was injured, save for a shaking up. All three of the machines concerned in the accident are badly wrecked.

Murdered Physician Was Known in Dixon

Dr. J. N. Shallenberger, 65, Chicago physician, whose death from injuries sustained when he was struck in a mysterious attack in the basement of the Chicago Board of Trade building was well known in Dixon, having treated many Dixon people during his regular visits to this city for years. His last visit to Dixon was about ten years ago. Chicago police today renewed efforts to find his assailant. Dr. Shallenberger had called to see a brother in the building, and on the way out of the building had stopped in the basement washroom to wash his hands, when he was struck from behind and knocked unconscious. The assault occurred on April 17 and he died steadily worse. Unable to find a clue to his assailant, or a cause for the assault Chicago police face an almost hopeless task in running down his murderer.

RUM "DIVIDEND" DETAILS BEFORE SENATE PROBERS

Judge Carpenter's Name Brought Into Hearing.

BULLETIN.
By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, May 5.—Former Attorney General Daugherty personally intervened in the litigation over New England railroad commissions, it was charged today during the senate inquiry, to relieve the New Haven line from the necessity of obeying the anti-trust law.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, May 5.—Legal steps by which the Grommes & Ulrich Co., a Chicago liquor house, distributed 5,000 cases of high-grade intoxicants among its stockholders, and escaped penalties under the Volstead Act, were described today in the senate Daugherty investigation.

Charles A. Williams, attorney for the concern, explained the plan by which the corporation was dissolved and its liquors turned over to 130 share holders.

Senator Wheeler, democrat, Montana, prosecutor, tried in vain to get the witness to admit that the 130 "knew they bought stock, but were going to get whiskey."

The government seized about 1,700 or 1,800 cases of the whiskey during the distribution, Williams said, but the balance got to stockholders.

Senator Wheeler got the witness to identify a Dr. Isham, one of those who got the stock, as a "brother-in-law of federal Judge Carpenter" and another "Mr. Birmingham" as "a son-in-law or brother-in-law of Judge Carpenter."

"Why bring in Judge Carpenter?" asked Paul Howard, attorney for H. M. Daugherty.

"I'll show you after a while," Senator Wheeler retorted.

Williams identified himself as a republican ward leader in Chicago. Birmingham and Isham were not identified. The only people who were prosecuted, Williams said, were "those who changed their political allegiance from Brundage"—the state attorney general.

Assault Case is on Trial Before a Jury

The case is the outgrowth of an assault which was tried out before Justice Lefebvre in Sublette, when the latter is said to have violated an agreement with relation to the price to be paid for an old heating stove, which was to be sold as junk. Attorneys William L. Leach of Amboy and John P. Devine of Dixon are appearing for the plaintiff and Attorney Brooks and Wynn of this city for Coopersmith.

MISSOURI RIVER THREATENS TO PUT RY. OUT OF BUSINESS

Western Division of C. & A. Facing Serious Catastrophe.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Alton, Ill., May 5.—President W. G. Bierd, Vice President A. P. Titus, the civil engineers and most of the road masters of the Chicago & Alton Railroad are at Glasgow, Missouri making night and day efforts to persuade the Missouri river to desist in its efforts to put the western division of that system out of commission for a long time by cutting a new channel around the Glasgow bridge.

The Missouri river runs parallel to the railroad tracks for several miles west of Glasgow and has for all the years since the railroad was built, back in the seventies, made the turn just west of the city where a fine bridge spans the turbulent and treacherous stream.

Piles Swept Away
For the past few years the stream has been cutting toward the railroad tracks and recently the government was induced to take a hand to stop its encroachments. Piles were driven, but in the past few weeks they have been swept away. About a mile and a quarter west of Glasgow, the river has encroachment onto the railroad right of way and now the stream is about 35 feet deep there. The stage of the river is low and the sand bank rises another 35 feet above the water line. The soil is sandy and when wet is almost liquid and it melts away so fast that it is feared the railroad cannot be saved.

All the chief engineers and road men have been fighting valiantly and the railroad has been dumping old box cars and many train loads of rip rap, locomotive boilers and most anything the most of them could think of, to stop the encroachment.

Situation Serious
If the emergency can be conquered then larger plans for the future can be undertaken. If the river makes a new channel at it seems disposed to do, it will entail a heavy loss on the railroad and will put the western division out of commission for an indefinite period.

It will require a long period of time to determine where the river will locate and after that either a new bridge will have to be constructed or the present bridge will have to be moved. The Chicago & Alton officials regard it as the most threatening calamity that has ever confronted the system.

AMUSEMENT BAN OF METHODISTS MAY BE LIFTED

Bishops Say It Has Not Corrected the Evils Named.

By Associated Press Leased Wire Springfield, Mass., May 5.—The ban of the Methodist Episcopal Church method used because it "has not corrected the evils named as detrimental to the recreational life of our people," the address of the board of bishops to the quadriennial conference of the church recommends.

Only amusements "which cannot be enjoyed in the name of Jesus Christ" should be barred, according to the address which was presented yesterday. The bishops observed with grave apprehension "the growing spirit of worldliness," agreed it was necessary to correct this evil, but asserted the method used to this end hitherto had been ineffectual and an embarrassment to many pastors, especially attending the young people of the church.

Endorsement was voiced of the union of the nations in the cause of peace and the union of the Methodist Churches of America in the cause of Christianity. The address urged America's entry to the world court.

Declaring that a trifling condition existed in relation to divorce, the address recommended standardization of divorce laws.

The bishops declared prohibition had decreased crime and misery. All efforts to modify or change the law would fail, they said.

DIXON FIELD MEET TO SHOW FARMERS LIMESTONE VALUE

Chief of Soil Experiment Fields Will Be Principal Speaker.

Practical pointers showing how farmers in northern and central Illinois can boost their corn yield almost one third through the use of limestone and sweet clover will be explained to the farmers at a meeting to be held Wednesday afternoon, on the soil experiment field which is maintained west of Dixon by the College of Agriculture, University of Illinois. L. S. Griffith, Lee county farm adviser, is cooperating in holding the meeting and is making a special effort to get a large delegation of farmers to attend the meeting and get first-hand information on paying soil building methods for this section of the state. The program will start at 1:30.

F. C. Bauer, a member of the college agronomy department and chief of the 33 soil experiment fields located in different parts of the state, will speak on "The Business of Farming and Soil Improvement," and A. L. Lang, also a member of the college agronomy department, will explain the work which is now under way on the field in an effort to work out up-to-date information on soil building for farmers in this section.

Limestone and Clover

Results being obtained on the field are in line with those from nine other central and northern Illinois fields and give striking proof of the possibilities for bigger crop yields through the use of limestone and sweet clover. This combination is designed to keep up the nitrogen supply in the soil. Corn yields alone on the fields have been increased from an average of 45 bushels an acre to 63 bushels an acre, while the wheat yield has been boosted from 28 bushels to 33 bushels an acre, an increase of five bushels an acre. These averages are for four years ending 1923. The yield of oats, soybeans, clover, alfalfa and other crops also have been materially increased through the use of the limestone-sweet clover combination.

Farmers who visit the field during the meeting will have a chance to see sweet clover growing on both treated and untreated land and can study the merits of different methods of soil treatment. The clover will be plowed under as a green manure for the corn crop this spring. Wheat on the fields also is far enough along so that those visiting the field can see the influence that soil treatment has had in bringing this crop through the winter.

MUCH INTEREST IN DR. BUTLER'S DRY LAW ATTACK

Has Received 10,000 Letters, 2,300 Telegrams, He Says.

By Associated Press Leased Wire New York, May 5.—The interest in Dr. Murray Butler's attack on the 18th amendment is shown by the fact that he has received 10,000 letters and 2,300 telegrams since he made his speech.

Several fathers have demanded that their children leave Columbia. Student supporters of Dr. Butler issued a counter protest declaring "a vast majority of the students believe that Dr. Butler was right in bringing to the attention of the nation the widespread disrespect for law resulting from prohibition."

Dr. Butler says a large number of communications have come from clergymen.

Rev. Dr. Percy Stickney Grant of the Church of the Ascension and Arthur J. Davis, state superintendent of the Anti-Saloon League, denounced Dr. Butler's stand yesterday.

"A few of the letters and telegrams have denounced me," Dr. Butler said, "but the favorable ones outnumber the others in the proportion of 200 to 1."

LAST SEEN SEVEN HOURS AFTER THEY TOOK AIR WEDNES.

Two Reports Indicate Maj. Martin Had Lost His Way Wednesday.

BULLETIN.
By Associated Press Leased Wire Washington, May 5.—Lt. C. L. Blawie, advance officer of the army's around-the-world flight squadron, advised the war department today "that every day on the south side of the peninsula has been searched and no word of Major F. L. Martin," the flight commander, who has been missing since April 28, was received.

False Pass, Alaska, May 5.—(By the Associated Press).—Major F. L. Martin, missing American flight commander, was seen 100 miles west of Chignik, Alaska, seven hours after he took the air at that place Wednesday, according to a report received here last midnight. The last place that Major Martin's plane was previously known to have been seen after it left Chignik was over Chignik Lake, 20 miles north of Chignik.

Cordova, Alaska, May 5.—(By the Associated Press).—A trapper living on an island in the middle of Lake Chignik, saw an airplane, believed to be that of Major F. L. Martin, missing commander of the American world flight squadron, passing over the lake at the height of about 400 feet traveling toward Behring Sea last week according to wireless advices received here from the coast guard cutter Alagonquin at Chignik.

The trapper, R. W. Sachsenroder, said:

"I saw a plane about noon flying over my house heading for Behring Sea," the message said. "I judge it was about 400 feet in the air."

A party of two natives left Chignik for Behring Sea Saturday and have not been heard from, the message also states.

The territory over which the natives will search is on the Alaska peninsula northwest of here and in the direction in which Sachsenroder's report indicates the plane he saw was traveling.

In the meantime, the planes, Chicago, New Orleans and Boston at Alaska Island were preparing to hop off today for Chicago, Attu Island, a distance of 530 miles.

Record Kept By Dixon Police Found Relative of Deceased Transient

A record which is kept at the police station, in which all men applying for lodging are registered, being kept, age and city of residence being kept, has proven very valuable in the last few days in locating relatives of a transient who passed away suddenly at the Emergency hospital at Milwaukee. Papers found on the man's clothing indicated that he had been employed at the Highway Cafe in this city and the coroner of Milwaukee communicated with Edward Hooker, trying to locate relatives.

Mr. Hooker recognized the name of Frank Withrow as that of a transient cook who had worked for him several weeks ago and turned the letter over to Chief J. D. Van Bibber. The register at the police station revealed the fact that Frank Withrow, aged 69, had applied for lodging on the night of March 1, and gave Indianapolis, Ind., as his home city. He told Chief Van Bibber that he was a cook by occupation and the next day the chief worked for him at the Highway cafe, where he remained for five weeks. This information was forwarded to the coroner at Milwaukee and was the means of locating relatives at Indianapolis.

SISTER MARY'S KITCHEN

BY SISTER MARY.

A Daily Menu for the Stout and Thin.

EAT AND—
LOSE WEIGHT.

One whole orange, 1 cup consommé, 1 maple cup custard, 1/2 cup combination vegetable salad, 2 lamb chops, 1 cup dandelion greens with lemon juice, 2 tablespoons diced carrots, 1 pint skimmed milk, 2 pieces crisp gluten toast, 1 tablespoon gluten croutons, 1 bran roll.

Total calories, 1080. Protein, 23%; fat, 23%; carbohydrate, 61%. Iron, .0207 gram.

Milk is especially acceptable in a high protein diet because of its non-acid ash after oxidation in the body. The protein of meat leaves an acid-forming ash, which if used to excess is sure to cause trouble.

The minerals in milk tend to form the alkaline ash as well as supply the necessary lime and iron in the diet. Don't neglect your pint of milk daily.

Skimmed milk is quite as valuable with the exception of the vitamins found in the butter fat as whole milk. Your fresh fruits and vegetables will supply this need.

GAIN WEIGHT.

One whole orange, 4 tablespoons creamed potatoes, 2 ounces sausage, 1 cup consommé, 1/2 cup combination vegetable salad with 2 tablespoons French dressing, 2 tablespoons baked macaroni with cheese, 1 maple cup custard, 1 cup tomato soup with rice, 2 lamb chops, 3 new potatoes in cream sauce, 1 cup dandelion greens with 1 tablespoon butter and lemon juice, 2 tablespoons diced carrots with butter, 1 fried banana, 2 tablespoons graham pudding with 1 tablespoon whipped cream, 1 pint whole milk, 2 corn-meal muffins with 2 tablespoons maple sirup, 2 tablespoons croutons, 1 bran roll, 3 tablespoons butter.

Total calories, 3974. Protein, 40%; fat, 162%; carbohydrate, 1947. Iron, .02 gram.

The normal diet should be in the proportion of one-tenth protein, three-tenths fat and six-tenths carbohydrate. In a gaining diet the amount of fat is increased but the fat must be easily digested.

Carbohydrates which consist of starch, sugar, dextrin and the acids of fruits and vegetables are the most easily digested and absorbed. Consequently any diet contains more carbohydrate calories than protein or fat.

Women's International League for Peace

By Associated Press Leased Wire

Washington, May 5.—Psychological aspects of a new international order were discussed by speakers at today's session of the Women's International League for Peace and Freedom.

Mrs. Anita Augspurgh, Germany; Miss Andree Jouve, France and Mrs. Templeton Johnson, United States delegate, delivered the opening speeches, holding that universal peace, good will and cooperation would fulfill the spirit of Christianity and bring about a moral uplift of mankind.

HOUSEHOLD SUGGESTIONS—
Washing Chiffon.

Wash chiffon in warm soapy water and rinse in warm water in which a lump of sugar has been dissolved.

Avoid Heavy Borders.

A heavy border always makes a ceiling look lower so avoid it in rooms with low ceilings.

Tarnish on Brass.

Tarnish on brass is a proof that the outside lacquer has been destroyed and that it should be refinished.

Get Extra Length.

When buying a carpet for the stairs get an extra step length more than you need and turn it under at the top or bottom, changing occasionally so that the wear will be distributed.

Cleaning Lace.

Lace neckwear that is only slightly soiled may be cleaned by burying it for a week in corstarch mixed with calcined magnesia.

Keep Utensils Handy.

Always be sure to have your cork screw and can opener where you can lay your hands upon them on a moment's notice and do not attempt to use a good knife to open bottles or cans.

Add Carbollic Acid.

Whitewash with a little carbollic acid added to it makes a most sanitary finish for a cellar wall.

Making Cement.

A cement that proves most effective is made by making a thick solution of gum arabic to a paste with plaster of paris.

GROWING IN FAVOR

month in advance of the balloting of the national delegates.

Abraham Lincoln in '44 and '72; McKinley in 1900, and Roosevelt in '04 were a few of the identical nominations.

A mammoth tent is to be erected on the campus which will provide seating capacity during the sessions for a thousand delegates and two thousand spectators.

D.A.R. Held Election
Officers on Saturday

The members of Dixon Chapter, D. A. R., enjoyed a session on Saturday afternoon at the home of Mrs. William H. Winn of the Franklin Grove road.

After the guests were welcomed by the hostess and seated in the spacious rooms, the Regent, Mrs. Burnham, conducted the opening exercises and introduced the vocalist of the afternoon, Miss Lucille Miller, and Mrs. Harry Stephan her accompanist. Miss Miller favored her audience with two beautiful solos, and graciously responded to an encore.

After business pertinent to the chapter, was concluded, Mrs. A. N. Nichols, who with her daughter, recently attended the Continental Congress D. A. R. in Washington, D. C., gave a most interesting and comprehensive report of the proceedings of that body. Large numbers attended this annual meeting and the volume of business and pleasure is of such magnitude that it is appalling to attempt more than a cursory report. Mrs. Nichols selected the high points on the program, interesting the members very much. The annual election of officers resulted as follows:

Mrs. Anna Burnham—Regent.
Mrs. A. H. Nichols—Vice Regent.
Miss Mary Pankhurst—Recording Secretary.

Miss Anna Woodbridge—Corresponding Secretary.
Mrs. W. A. Rhodes—Treasurer.
Miss Jennie Laing—Registrar.
Miss Emily Keithley Petre—Historian.

For Board of Managers—Miss Anna Pratt, Mrs. S. S. Dodge, Mrs. Abner Barlow.

Appointive offices will be filled later. The hostess was assisted by Mrs. J. H. Bachman and Mrs. George Dixon. Delicious refreshments were served.

Mrs. Susan Cook
102 Years Old

Mrs. Susan Cook will reach the ripe old age of 102 years tomorrow, May 6th.

Mrs. Cook rejoices in fairly good health and looks back on an eventful and useful life, her work well done. She was born in Shelby County, Ky., and was a slave until the slaves were freed by the Emancipation Proclamation signed by Abraham Lincoln.

Tomorrow her four children, Edward, Harriet, Anna and Eva, will spend the day with her, realizing that it is rarely given to children to keep a mother with them for so many years. Many friends extend best wishes and congratulations and the greetings cards and gifts have already begun to arrive.

KENDALL CLUB TO MEET TUESDAY—
The members of the Kendall club will meet Tuesday afternoon with Mrs. George Dixon, 415 Second St.

PRINTED AND ENGRAVED INVITATIONS—
Churches and societies will find a selection of printed and engraved invitations which they should consider when giving social functions. B. F. Shaw Printing Co.

While services were being conducted in a church at Stoke, Newington, England, a woman died in the rear pew without the fact being discovered until the services were over.

STATE BORDERS.

Consideration of the plight of the automobile tourists recently held up on the California-Arizona border because of a quarantine against the foot and mouth disease leads the Kansas City Star to imagine the state of affairs that would exist if the American colonies had failed to ratify the constitution.

"In that event," according to the Star,
"travelers would really know something about boundary crossing. The continent would be dotted with custom houses, and every time he crossed a state line the traveler would have to turn out his trunk for inspection. Fortresses doubtless would be as numerous, for every state would be armed against its neighbors. It is likely enough every state would have railroads of a different gauge to make as difficult as possible the hostile movements of troops, and as for the complexity and multiplicity of laws the transcontinental adventurer would encounter, they would be beyond computation."

Being held up for quarantine purposes is bad enough. The reports of genuine suffering entailed at the various border towns is not pleasant reading. Yet it is the exceeding strangeness of this situation which has made it such startling news. Most travelers do not even know when they cross state borders. The freedom with which citizens can journey from coast to coast and up and down this broad land is not fully appreciated until something interferes with it.

KEEP WASHINGTON BEAUTIFUL.

As it stands, Washington, D. C., is among the beautiful cities of the world. As planned, it should be the most beautiful. In recent years, however, hasty building and emergency needs have combined to interfere with its rightful dignity and beauty. Hills and forests in sections of the District of Columbia outside of the original Washington plans are being destroyed. Lovely perspectives within the city proper have been blocked or broken by buildings poorly located and not in harmony with the older and finer buildings near by.

Some of the damage recently done can scarcely be remedied. Other contemplated mistakes can be stopped if prompt action is taken. It is the purpose of the American Civic association, which has recently formed a committee of one hundred in Washington, to arouse general public interest in maintaining the beauty and dignity of the nation's capital city. That organization is calling upon civic agencies and individual citizens everywhere to take a livelier interest in the present and future development of Washington. It is asking the various congressional committees responsible for district affairs to cooperate on a uniform plan with this end in view.

It is a matter which concerns not congress alone, nor the citizens of Washington, but the whole nation. If any city in the United States should be beautiful as well as efficient, that city is Washington. With all the current ideals of city zoning and planning. Washington should not be allowed to suffer disfigurement for lack of disregard of those ideals.

TOURING.

"I am having a most interesting trip through northern Africa," writes Col. William A. Gaston. "The cities are very modern; roads perfect. Have traveled over 1500 miles by motor. All natives pleasant and contented."

We expect to find a gasoline filling station when we arrive at the River Styx, with old Charon ferrying passengers in a motorboat or airplane.

SHORTAGE.

Two million people have left the farms and flocked to the cities since 1920, the Department of Agriculture estimates. It is a natural movement, resulting from over-production of crops among other things. And it is gradually restoring the balance of prosperity between farming and city industry.

But there's a grave danger that the shifting from farms to cities will go too far and imperil the food supply. A shortage of farm labor already is reported by the government, the supply lately being only 92 farm-hands for every 100 needed.

HOW IT'S DONE.

New York's skyscraper church is being financed by the sale of five per cent bonds in small denominations, in addition to a two million dollar loan by an insurance company.

Twelve thousand people attended a recent open-air meeting at which bonds were sold.
A committee of 100 business men has charge of the pep-up campaign.

They find the bonds sell easily. Buyers feel that they are investing in eternity. The extra five per cent while here on earth is not without additional appeal.

IT IS A JOY—

To see a youth respectful to old age.

To be welcomed by the shout of one's own children.

To find a mother training her daughter to keep house.

To hear a boy defending his father's good name.

To know a man who is not always looking for insults.

To watch a picture that does not deal with the sex problem.

U. S. PERSONALLY.

Our business relations with other countries in 1923 paid a net profit of about $1.40 for every American man, woman and child.

All transactions involving payments between America and other countries left us, when the books were balanced, 152 million dollars to the good. Billions, of course, were involved in the exchange of goods—exports and imports.

The government report discloses that Uncle Sam figures 30 million dollars worth of liquor was smuggled into the United States last year.

GOING OUT.

Exports of leading farm products in the eight months that preceded March 1 were valued at 1308 million dollars. This was 6 per cent more than the corresponding eight months a year before, but the gain may represent price changes instead of increased sales.

A larger handicap for the farmers is that the 1308 million dollars represented what exporters got. The price received at the farms was away below this figure. The farmer doesn't get the profits-piled-on-profits that are added as food moves to market.

FREE GOLF.

Only 85 American cities are known to have municipal golf courses, though this sport claims 10 million followers.

Membership and fees in most golf clubs are so high that it's still a rich man's game.
The poor or even people of average means can not afford it. In Canada philanthropists are building golf courses and throwing them open to the public. Good tip for Americans who want to return some of the money the public created for them.

TOM SIMS SAYS

More investigating before electing a man would save more investigating after he is elected.

They arrested a bob-haired bandit in New York because she used a gun instead of just talking to her victims.

At first he thinks she is the super sex, but a few years later he calls her the supper sex.

Among the important things going on new are straw hats.

This report about the rising generation going to the dogs is several million years old.

A man on a vacation will spend more money accidentally than he will on purpose at home.

Now we will see if Babe Ruth has a steady job as home-run king.

Love thy neighbor, but be not too friendly with his garden tools.

A compromise is when a man agrees to let his wife have what she is arguing for if she will only shut up.

It's a wrong road that has no turning.

The skeleton in the average closet is in the cellar.

And there sat Alice making a daisy chain

"Where are you going now?" asked Nancy, as Mister Muggs came along in his little magic car.

"I thought you would like to make a call on Alice who went to Wonderland," said the fairyman.
"Oh, yes, yes, yes! We would," cried the Twins. "And shall we see the Rabbit and the Dormouse and the Duchess and the Mad Hatter and everybody?"

"Well, I can't say that for sure," answered Mister Muggs. "You see Alice lives in Once-Upon-A-Time Land and she met those people when she was away visiting."
"Well, she can tell us about them anyway," said Nancy, "and that's just as good."

They all got into the little car and rode and rode until they came to an orchard marked "Alice's Orchard."

Then they stopped and everybody got out.

And there sat Alice herself making a daisy chain.

"Oh, dear!" she yawned. "I'm so sleep and it's so warm! I feel as though I were going to fall asleep and have another adventure. I wonder if—"

Just then she saw the visitors and jumped up. "Oh, I'm so glad you came," she cried. "I'm never sleepy when I have company and I'd so much rather talk."

So they all sat down and Nancy began, "Which one of the people you met on your adventures did you like the best?"

"Oh, the rabbit was a darling!" said Alice. "He had such cute little clothes and was such a fine gentleman. When I fell down the rabbit hole he was all dressed up to go to the Duchess' party. Oh dear, I shall never forget the things that happened there! How I grew big and little inside of a minute, until I forgot who I really was.

I tried to say the 'How Doth the Busy Bee' to comfort myself for being somebody else, and do you know I couldn't even remember it. I said
'How Doth the Little Crocodile' instead."

"I never heard that. How does it go?" asked Nick.

So Alice recited:
"How does the little crocodile Improve his shining tail,
And pour the water of the Nile
How cheerfully he seems to grin,
On every shining scale?"

How neatly spreads his claws
And welcomes little fishes in
With gentle smiling jaws!"

"Thank you!" said Nick. That's not hard to understand. And did you find out who you were?"

"I was myself, of course," answered
Alice. "If I did come in assorted sizes,
Only I bumped my chin on the ground
I was so little. And again I hit my head on the roof. I was so tall. But it all came out all right and there wasn't a bit of use in my crying."

"Did you cry?" asked Nancy sympathetically. "I suppose you were frightened."

"Not a bit," said Alice. "I was a goose to cry for nothing. I made such a pond of tears I nearly drowned everybody. I tell you about it tomorrow."

Builds Better Buildings Cheaper

THIS is what we mean by a better building.
One that is a better place in which to live or work, one that performs its functions in a more thorough way. It must be a healthful building, free from dampness. A comfortable building, warm in winter and cool in summer. It cannot burn down, neither must it deteriorate with age,—it must be permanent. A modern building that stays modern and an attractive building that has its value enhanced by a distinctive beauty.

To build such a building cheaper means that the cost of materials must be less and that the job be done more rapidly with less labor and material. Not only should the first cost be less, but the later expense of repair and upkeep should be eliminated.

Duntile builds such buildings, better and cheaper.

How is a Man Judged?

The late J. P. Morgan answered the question once and for all when he said:

"I never look a man up; I look him over!"

Stop and think what those words mean. Simply that one of the greatest business men the world has ever known attached tremendous importance to a man's personal appearance.

If you could stand before J. P. Morgan today, what do you think would be his verdict?

Correct dress has helped many men toward their goals.
Correct dress has put men into bigger positions. It has made leaders out of trailers. It has helped to turn failure into success.

Nowadays no man can afford to neglect his personal appearance. He owes it to himself to be well dressed.

ALEXANDER AFTER ANOTHER RECORD OF REAL CONTROL

Has Gone Twenty-nine Innings Without Issuing a Pass.

BY THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

John McGraw's baseball team yesterday made 31 hits and 25 runs in winning a double header from Philadelphia by scores of 13-3 and 12-3. The Phillies blamed it on Umpire Finnerman who answered by chasing 12 of Fletcher's bench warmers off the field. Under the barrage of hits McGraw conducted more pitching experiments. Gearin and Oeschger, who began the game, left after two innings each. Baldwin, a rookie, and Jeonard finished strong in each case. Cincinnati staggered the advancing Pirates with two defeats at Redland Field. The scores were 2-0 and 5-4. Luque was stronger than Meadows in the first game, making his first start of the year was chased by the Pirates in the sixth inning of the second game but Benton and Mays, pitching before a fast defense, kept a one run ahead.

Axel Shows Control

Grover Alexander held St. Louis to three hits, one a homer, by Freigau and pitched his 29th consecutive inning without issuing a pass in the Chicago 4-1 victory over the Cardinals. Grimes hit a homer, double and a single.

Dazy Vance was invincible in all but two innings and Brooklyn with Deberry and Wheat hitting hard, won from Boston 7-3.

The Yanks, idle in the American League, held first place when St. Louis beat Detroit 6-5 and Cleveland walloped Chicago 13-7. Ken Williams made his fourth homer which, with another by Severed, was a decisive factor in the Browns fourth straight victory over the Tigers.

Philadelphia lost its sixth consecutive game when Washington beat them 3-2. Walter Johnson weakened in the eighth after pitching good ball but Mayberry saved the game by fanning Miller.

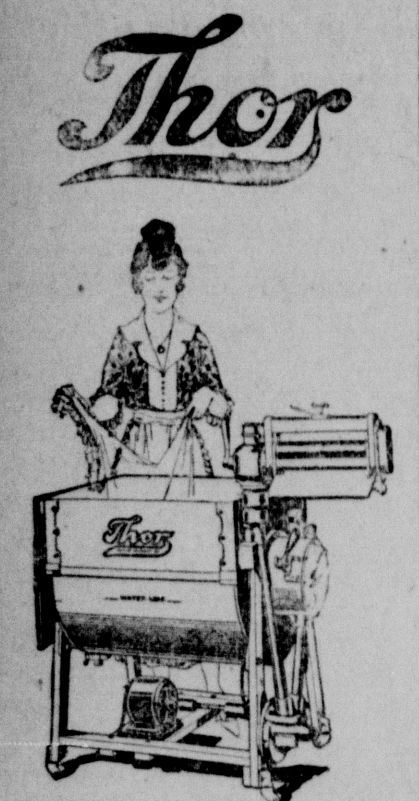

The Cubs and Cardinals played without the services of the league's best second baseman and his likely runner up. Rodger Hornsby, the St. Louis star, was out because of an injured hand and Grantham who is hitting 361 for the Cubs, has an injured ankle.

Fifty thousand persons saw the New York Giants whale Philadelphia twice by one-sided scores.

The Cleveland-Chicago game required two hours and fifty nine minutes. The Reds and Pirates battled two sessions in but little longer.

Cigaretts rolled in papers of various colors are intended for the use of women who like their smokes to match their frocks.

LEE CO. FARM BUREAU NOTES

PLANS COMPLETED FOR MEETING

Plans for a field meeting at the Dixon Experimental Field 2 miles west of Dixon have been completed, and it is hoped that a large crowd of Lee county farmers can attend the meeting at 1:30, Wednesday, May 7. At this time the sweet clover will be almost ready to plow under to be followed with corn, and past results from the use of this green manure crop will be discussed by Dr. F. C. Bauer of the College of Agriculture. Dr. Bauer has been in the county many times, and has always had information very much worth while for farmers.

A trip over the field to see winter wheat, clover seedling and other points of interest with regard to crop rotation and crop yields will be arranged for.

49 COUNTIES NOW TESTING

With the addition of Rock Island county to the number of counties which are now testing for tuberculosis the grand total is swelled to 49. Several counties are reported by M. H. Peterson, head of the tuberculosis eradication department of the I. A. A., to be on the verge of taking up the battle, but have not quite reached the point yet.

MAY BAR COWS NOT T. B. TESTED

Prophetstown, Whiteside county, Illinois, may be establishing a precedent.

Farm bureau members living in the Prophetstown cream producing area are planning a cream producers cooperative that will limit its membership to those farmers who have tuberculosis-free cows, according to Farm Adviser Griffith of Lee county.

An organization committee was appointed at a recent meeting of interested cream producers there which will go after a minimum of 100 signers to the Illinois Agricultural Association plan. A. D. Lynch, director of dairy marketing for the I. A. A., points out that not only cream will be handled cooperatively, but eggs and poultry will be handled too.

According to Farm Adviser "Dad" Wise, of Whiteside county, Prophets town has more farm bureau members than any other township in the state. There are 176 members representing over 90 per cent of the farmers and landowners of the township.

BARREL OF MILK FOR EVERY ONE IN LEE CO. THIS YEAR

Farmers Should Support Own Industry By Using Dairy Goods.

"One barrel of milk a year is the present amount drunk by farmers and city folks in Lee county," says A. B. Lynch, director of dairy marketing for the Illinois Agricultural Association. A barrel of 50 gallons, to be exact, and 50 gallons is about 700 pounds. That's an increase over 1922 of eight per cent.

"It is not the time, however, for farmers to rush madly into dairying or increasing the size of herds now in production," says Mr. Lynch. "The dairyman of today will make more money by improving the quality of his milk and cream and by keeping a sharp lookout for ways to produce it cheaper. Foreign countries are shipping butter into the United States in large quantities at the present time and we have been able so far to consume their importations. But if the demand in the United States should fall off due to some depression or other, we would have an international market setting prices on our dairy products instead of more favorable domestic market."

Should Use Products
Above all things the farmers should help to stabilize his own business by using dairy products," says Adviser Griffith of Lee county. "In other words, use whole milk, cream, pure condensed milk without the oil filler and butter rather than butter substitutes. It is almost heart breaking," he continues, "to see farmers buying and carrying home arm loads of butter substitute, especially if there are children in the family that need the vitamin life-giving properties of butter. If the dairyman and general farmer don't want to make butter, buy good dairy butter or creamery butter. Of course, they cost more; they are worth more. If the dairyman wilking an unbroken cow expects the city consumer to buy his milk, cream, butter or condensed milk he certainly can afford to use his own products either from his own herd or by purchasing such products on the market."

Indiana Voters to Express Preference

By Associated Press Leased Wire
Indianapolis, Ind., May 5.—Indiana voters after an apathetic campaign, will go to the polls tomorrow to express a presidential preference and to nominate one each from flocks of democratic and republican candidates for governor, 125 members of the legislature and county and township officers. President Coolidge and Hiram Johnson are contending for the republican presidential preference.

The Ku Klux Klan and ten women candidates one for congress and the others for state legislative seats, have been features of the campaign, chief interest in which has been centered in the gubernatorial nominations. Ed Jackson, secretary of state and republican gubernatorial candidate, is reported to have Klan support while Mayor Lew Shank, Indianapolis, and Ora Davis, mayor of Terre Haute, among Jackson's opponents, have criticized the Klan.

No theories on germs, film, mouth acids, and gum structure explain the real cause of dull teeth.

A convincing tube of Dentalax will be sent for the coupon below. Try it. Your teeth will sparkle as Nature intended they should.

No toothbrush ever touched these glistening teeth

Old theories of cleansing now discarded

Beautiful women in Europe never brush their teeth. Yet they have the most perfect teeth in the world. Teeth that practically never decay.

Americans have the worst teeth in spite of daily brushing.

So brushing with toothpastes has not helped much. But now your teeth can be pearly white. Your gums rosy and healthily firm. A delightful test will show you. This test is free.

Old theories ridiculous
Nature would keep your teeth white and sound if you would let her. She has done it for centuries for many races of people.

These laugh at American theories on germs, glands, film and gum structure. In the language of some races there is no word for "toothache."

Vegetable fibres in their food clean and scour their teeth perfectly. These fibrous particles exercise and massage their gums and keep them healthy.

This is Nature's only way of keeping teeth pretty as a baby's. There is no other way to prevent pyorrhea.

Thirty years of research among these races prove this. The American diet is wrong. All fibrous particles are removed. Soft foods keep Nature from cleansing and polishing your teeth the only satisfactory way.

Out of thirty years of dental research has come a way now to duplicate the stimulating and cleansing action of natural vegetable fibres.

Nature's way duplicated
It has resulted in a fibrated toothpaste of remarkable powers, delightful to use. It is now known everywhere as Dentalax.

You will quickly note the happy effect on your teeth. Dinginess and stains disappear. Your teeth sparkle as Nature intended they should. Make the test at once. Know what clean, shining teeth you can now have. Stop at your druggist's—he has Dentalax. If his supply is out, mail the coupon for the convincing test tube.

Who has to get up to start your kitchen fire?

A STOVE you have to shake is as old-fashioned as a car you have to crank. The work and the waiting to get a fire ready for business are work and time wasted.

You can quickly prove these facts to your own satisfaction by visiting a nearby store where the Florence Oil Range is sold. This modern stove speeds up kitchen work and takes much of the drudgery out of housework.

The vapor from kerosene is what burns. It is a gas flame, not a wick flame such as you see in the ordinary oil lamp. Kerosene is a cheap and plentiful fuel. The Florence not only is a great convenience, but it cuts fuel bills sharply. You use it only when actually cooking. And it means a cooler, cleaner kitchen.

A sturdy beauty

Notice the quality of the enamel in a Florence Range. Observe that the oil reservoir is light but very durable. If you want an oven, see how the Florence is modeled on the old Dutch oven, and with our patented heat distributor assures even cooking.

There are refinements about the Florence that will appeal to you the minute you see them. Just look in at a store and convince yourself.

Florence products are sold by live hardware, department, and furniture stores.

Florence Leveler
Attached to each leg of the stove, this device enables you to get the stove level on an uneven floor.

HIS BROTHER'S WIFE

by RUDY AYRES

BEGIN HERE TODAY

The marriage of Dolly and Nigel Bretherton proves an unhappy one. When war is declared, Nigel is glad to enlist. He leaves Dolly under the care of Mary Furnival. Nigel is killed and Dolly married an old sweetheart, Robert Durham.

CHAPTER XXIX
 A Puzzle

HENRY EVANS thought a great deal about Mary during the days that followed that goodby at her flat, and the more he thought of her the more puzzled and interested he grew.

She had told him in the first place that her name was Mary Furnival, although with his own eyes he had afterwards seen that the label on her luggage was addressed "Mrs. Nigel Bretherton."

Young Evans had an exceedingly good memory, and he remembered perfectly well that Mrs. Nigel Bretherton was the name she had first given him by which to inquire at the shipping offices for the friend who had been drowned in the Mul-tana.

The whole thing was very perplexing. When the opportunity arose he said to himself:

"Yes, really. You see, I've always been poor—always had to work for my living. Until—"

"Until you married Nigel"—he finished for her.

She said nothing. During the last few minutes she had forgotten her deception, forgotten everything but the enjoyment of this ride. Now memory came surging back to her like an engulfing tide.

"I have often wished, since I came home, that I'd done more for him," David went on. "There was such a heap of money lying idle; I'm afraid I was mean with him."

"He used to say how generous you were. He always spoke as if he thought the world of you."

David sat in moody silence. He hardly spoke again till they were back once more at the Red Grange. He got down from the wheel, and turning, held his hand to Mary.

"You look all the better for your drive," he said. "There is quite a color in your cheeks. I've enjoyed it, too. It isn't often I feel like tea, but I must say I do today."

He followed her into the house. "Have you got any tea for us, Aunt Florence?" David asked, putting his head round the drawing-room door. "We're as hungry as hunters."

He turned to look at Mary, but she had gone. He went quickly forward into the room.

"By the way," he said, with apparent carelessness, to Miss Varney. "Don't write to Fisher just at present. We'll wait a while, till Mary has gone over to see him. She won't be wanting strangers here yet."

"I've just written, David," David frowned.

"Well, tear the letter up. I've changed my mind; we'll ask them later."

"Very well, dear," Miss Varney answered resignedly, but her eyes, behind their glasses, looked anxiously once or twice at David.

There was a sort of youthfulness about him this afternoon that she could not remember having noticed before. She asked an apparently irrelevant question:

"And do you think you will like Mary being here?"

"Why?"

He did not look at her as he answered her query with the little monosyllable.

"It was only wondering," said Miss Varney. "It will make a great difference in our lives, you know, David. We've always been so quiet, just we two together."

"I don't care about auburn hair," he finished, lamely.

Miss Adams sniffed.

"You've got no taste, then."

But Evans did not answer. He felt a little thrill of excitement. Mary had not had auburn hair; he remembered every detail of her sweet face and coloring, and much as he admired her, he did not think that the description of "very pretty" in the least described her. He sat silent for a moment frowning.

Miss Adams watched him with faint wonderment.

"Why are you so awfully interested in the Brethertons?" she asked, with abrupt suddenness. "You never knew any of them, did you?"

"No—how could I? Only as one was killed at the Front it makes me rather interesting, and—" he stopped. Someone had opened the outer office door, and walked into the room.

Miss Adams glanced round; Evans rose to his feet. A tall man stood in the doorway, looking from one to the other inquiringly.

"Is Mr. Fisher in? Oh, good-morning, Miss Adams."

Miss Adams smiled and simpered; she was pleased to be so recognized in front of Evans; she thought it might impress him with her importance.

"Good-morning," she said. She scraped her chair back along the floor, and rose.

"Mr. Fisher is out just at present, but he'll be in shortly." She glanced at a watch-bracelet on her wrist. "In about half an hour, I should think. Will you wait?"

The tall man shook his head. "Thank you, no; I'll look in again this afternoon. You might tell him I called?"

He went away, shutting the door after him.

Evans swung round on his stool. "Who's that?" he asked.

Miss Adams answered, with a fine show of unconcern:

"Oh? Oh, I forgot you didn't know that's David Bretherton."

"Really?"

Evans looked deeply interested. "I say, what a fine-looking man, isn't he?"

Miss Adams tossed her head. "Think so? He's too lanky for my taste; I like broad shoulders."

She glanced at Evans coquettishly, but the inference was wasted on him. "He often comes up here," she added. "I know him quite well."

She waited, but there was no comment forthcoming, and she fell to clicking the keys of the typewriter rather listlessly.

So that was David Bretherton! Evans wished he had had a better chance of looking at him; it seemed strange that Mary was living under that man's roof. Mary, who filled his thoughts waking and sleeping; whom—in a wild moment before he knew who she was—he had dared to love in his young dreams.

A poor clerk in love with David Bretherton's sister-in-law! He stifled a sigh, and went on copying letters half-heartedly; things were very unfairly divided in life, he thought, with a faint sense of resentment.

CHAPTER XXX
 David's Plan

EVANS managed to be in the office when Bretherton called again; it was he who showed him into Mr. Fisher's room. He wondered, with a touch of humor, what this tall, aristocratic-looking man would say were he to dare to pluck up courage and ask after Mary?

He could imagine the way he would be snubbed and rebuffed, and yet—he had one friend to rely on in her distress, and who knew but that the chance might come again?

He wondered what the two men were talking about behind that fast-shut balcony door; the incongruous thought flashed through his mind that perhaps some day there might be an attachment between Mary and Mr. Fisher. It was surprising how that thought hurt him; he tried to dismiss it as being ridiculous.

But in Mr. Fisher's private room he and David Bretherton were speaking of Mary at that very moment.

"And how do you find the arrangement works?" Monty Fisher was asking David interestedly.
